BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Victor E. Anderson was born on March 30, 1902 the son of Swedish immigrants in Havelock, Nebraska. He graduated from Havelock High School in 1920 and began attending the University of Nebraska. After two and a half years at the University he quit school to become a partner in his fathers' plumbing and hardware business. He later obtained controlling interest of the Havelock National Bank and was named President, a position he held until his death.

Anderson's political career began in 1936 when he was appointed trustee of the Lancaster County Sanitary District. He was later elected to the post three times. In 1948 he won the 18th district seat in the legislature. He resigned this position in 1950 when he was chosen mayor unanimously by the Lincoln City Council. In 1951 he ran for re-election and won by a large majority.

In 1952 Anderson made his first attempt at the governorship. He lost in the Republican primary to Robert Crosby. Anderson tried again in 1954, this time winning both the nomination and the general election. He was re-elected in 1956 by a large majority, but lost in his attempt for a third term to Democrat Ralph Brooks in the closest election in Nebraska history.

As governor, Anderson was known for his "hard tack" policy on spending. He held taxes and spending in check during his two terms, an issue which he had emphasized in his campaigns. He used a business-man's approach to the executive office, yet while he reduced wasteful spending he greatly improved mental health care.

In 1959 Anderson was named by President Eisenhower as a delegate to the Atlantic Conference, a NATO sponsored organization. He died on August 16, 1962 of a heart attack, his second in four months. He was survived by his wife of 21 years, Betty, and his son Roger.

Anderson was a member of the Havelock Methodist Church and Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He was also a member of the University Club, Masonic Lodge, Shrine, Elks, Odd Fellows, Moose, and Rebecca Lodges. He was also involved with the Lions Club and a member of the Lincoln Country Club. He was on the Board of Trustees at Nebraska Wesleyan University and past director and vice-president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.
